about off—

Off— is a seasonal professional development space led by 10x award-winning leader & conscious career mentor Alison Rice.

It is for any professional or careerist with a desire to develop within their role, deepen their expertise, increase their impact & cultivate executive presence.

Past Off— mentees have reported feeling more present & purposeful at work, more motivated day-to-day & less stressed about their career timeline after a season inside.

about alison

Alison Rice is an award-winning leader, conscious career and business mentor, regenerative strategist & acclaimed podcast host.

Prior to growing Offline into a multi-six figure business & market-leading professional development brand, Alison held editing, programming, publishing & leadership roles at The Walkley Foundation For Excellence in Journalism, ACP Magazines & global digital publishing house, Allure Media.

Alison has been featured on the B&T Women in Media Power List twice, won the Australian publishing industry's most coveted leadership award — Publish Executive of the Year — among others.

why off—

Because as leaders, despite our desire to put our people first & ensure they are getting the professional development they deserve, it's becoming increasingly difficult to balance this core people need alongside the strategic & commercial needs of the business.

Off— exists first-and-foremost for its co-creators, but it also exists to support leaders in developing their people in a way that extends beyond a retention strategy & into a value exchange. When people feel seen, valued & prioritised, everyone & everything rises with that tide.

Off— is four months of personalised voice mentoring, expanding knowledge sessions & being connected into a community of like-minded professionals.

the investment

Off— is four monthly payment instalments of $75 AUD. Most co-creators inside pay the instalment & then have the business reimburse them.
